

Race from France to France: Leave Antarctica to Starboard

In 2018, a group of intrepid sailors set out on an epic race from France to France, leaving Antarctica to starboard. The race, known as the Vendée Globe, is a solo, non-stop race around the world, and is considered one of the most challenging sporting events on the planet.

The sailors faced treacherous conditions, including freezing temperatures, towering waves, and relentless winds. They sailed through the Southern Ocean, around the Cape of Good Hope, and up the Atlantic Ocean. Along the way, they encountered icebergs, whales, and other marine life.
