Through the eyes of these literary masters, you will witness the dreams, struggles, and triumphs of the pioneers, cowboys, Native Americans, and modern-day inhabitants who have shaped the identity of the West.

The anthology invites you to explore the grandeur of the Western landscape, from its towering mountains and sweeping plains to its sprawling deserts and crystal-clear rivers. It delves into the complex social and cultural fabric that defines this region, shedding light on the enduring legacy of Native American cultures, the emergence of frontier towns, and the ongoing environmental challenges that shape the West's destiny.

A Literary Panorama of the American West

'Trail To The Interior Rm Patterson Collection' presents a kaleidoscopic range of literary forms and styles, mirroring the eclectic nature of the Western experience itself. Classic Western tales of cowboys and frontiersmen rub shoulders with contemporary works that explore the complexities of modern life in the West. Lyrical poems sing of the beauty and desolation of the landscape, while scholarly essays delve into the region's rich history and cultural heritage.

The anthology features contributions from a diverse group of writers, including:

- Zane Grey, whose thrilling adventures immortalized the rugged spirit of the cowboy

- Owen Wister, whose iconic novel 'The Virginian' defined the Western genre
- Louise Erdrich, whose Pulitzer Prize-winning works explore the lives of contemporary Native Americans
- Leslie Marmon Silko, whose groundbreaking writings challenge traditional narratives of the West
- Wallace Stegner, whose essays and novels capture the grandeur and fragility of Western landscapes
- Cormac McCarthy, whose haunting prose delves into the dark underbelly of the Western mythos
